

General Goal:
 We strive to give hope to the hopeless, shine light to those in darkness, bring Christ to the people and share the love of God with all.

Easter Celebration

On March 31, 2024, our school, I've always approached students and community members assuming they're non-Christians. Sometimes, even in church, I've preached as if they weren't believers. But our school isn't a church or a Christian NGO. Yet, during our Easter service, something struck me. Staff spoke about the values of the Bible and the meaning of Easter.

The time GBGM spent collaborating with CSCFO based on Christian values wasn't in vain. Students not only understand Christian values but also hear from their parents how their lives have changed. I see hope that these students, before being inundated with negativity from YouTube and media, will become people deeply rooted in Christian values, and that Cambodia will become God's vineyard.

Christian Value Class

The Christian Value class is not only about nurturing a connection with God but also about embracing our Cambodian culture and traditional morals.

During the first quarter of the year, we continued to delve into the profound themes of God's creation and His ultimate expression of love by sending His Son, Jesus Christ, to die for us. Many of our students come from challenging family backgrounds resembling orphans even if they have parents who are often absent.

However, we have learned that we are all children of God, and He has become our parent. We belong to His heavenly family, and knowing that God cares for us has instilled a sense of confidence. Drawing from the stories of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and Esau in Genesis, we have learned from the Bible how to live within our families. Our children are growing and transforming as they internalize these spiritual truths.

AKUMC VIM Team

From March 19-20, 2024, a VIM team from Aiea United Methodist Church (AKUMC) visited CSCFO School. It was a rewarding and enjoyable time for both the team and the students, with many valuable lessons learned. We're grateful for your journey and presence. We have hope, and we have grown a little more.

Empowering young generation (Volunteer Liza)

My name is Hun Ana Liza, and my journey embodies resilience. Despite early challenges due to my family's struggles with HIV/AIDS and my stepfather's alcoholism, I found hope for a new life when my mother and I moved to Phnom Penh in 2020.

Supported by Mak Ling, I prioritized my education, overcoming obstacles to enroll at Tuol Ampol High School. Despite the daily 11-kilometer journey to school, I remained determined not to let my circumstances define me.

Now, as a high school graduate, I am grateful for organizations like GBGM's Street Children Ministry, which have supported me in continuing my education and giving back to my community. With their help, I've found hope for a brighter future. Thank God.

Students' Parents meeting and fellowship

Parents gathering at March 17, 2024, parents visited our school for a gathering where the CSCFO. CSCFO's workteam explained the current situation of the school and what they are asking from parents.

We were delighted to see returning students, and when our work is at the school, the response was positive. Students got a good mind set and attitude. One mother expressed her desire to teach Korean to her son, so we created registration conditions for Korean classes, including for over the 12-year-olds. We also enjoyed games and a meal together. These gatherings are frequent, and we hope they will increase parents' interest in their children's education and the school.

Street Children Ministry Team GBGM Cambodia

Our dynamic team Daneth, GMF Gwanghui, and Rev. Andrew—united in our mission to bring education and justice to Cambodia's Street Children in Slum areas. With local insight, international perspective, and strong leadership, we collaborate to empower these young minds. Together, we strive to make a positive impact, fostering hope and knowledge for a brighter future in the communities we serve.
