

Sustainable Development

The second quarter is finally complete, CHAD program has been faithful to its mandate. This year has been tough for the people in Cambodia as the weather reached extremes that have not been experience yet. The dry season was unforgiving and the ones who bore the brunt of this harshness were the people in the villages with no access to clean water

CHAD was able to provide well for a fraction of these individual to ease their burden, with the support of our partners we were able to provide 10 clean water wells and 20 water filters and our accompanying clean water education to our beneficiaries.

Our hope is to improve the day to day lives of these individuals and help them improve their self dependence and sustainability
